

TWO BARKS ARRIVE.THE CITY OF ADELAIDE AND AMY TURNER.

Steamer Claudine with Bana Sugar—Lehua Excursionists Depart—Bark J. C. Glade Goes AWAY.

The steamer Mikahau from Nawiliwili is due Sunday morning.

The steamer Iwaiwai was chock-a-block with freight on her departure for Makaweli this afternoon.

The ship Marie Hackfeld moved from the railway wharf to Fort street wharf where she will probably unload her coal.

The German bark J. Glade cleared for San Francisco with 300 tons of coal in transit and 400 tons ballast as cargo, and two passengers.

The steamer Kauhou brought 2101 bags of Lihue sugar and three horses for Senator Rice over from Kauai. The sugar is being unloaded into the bark Alford.

Capt Williamson of the bark City of Adelaide is well-known in this port. He was formerly master of the bark Giana, which plied between here and Newcastle.

The American bark Amy Turner, William C. Wailard, master, arrived on port this morning from New York, 150 days out, with a general cargo of merchandise consigned to Brewer & Co.

The steamer Lehua with the jolly fishermen on board leaves this evening at 6 o'clock. She will reach Lanai at daylight and will make Lehina tomorrow night, returning on Monday morning to this port.

The yacht Hawaii was brought back from Pearl Lagoon by Commodore Lather Wilcox, on Wednesday, where she had been during the epidemic. She was slightly damaged while there, by getting on the rocks.

The British 4-masted bark City of Adelaide, Williamson master, and laden 67 days from Newcastle was towed into the harbor at noon today. She is consigned to Allen & Robinson, and will unload at the railway wharf, her cargo amounting to 1400 tons.

The steamer Claudine docked at Oceanic wharf, at 8 o'clock this morning from Hawaii with 2005 bags of sugar, 150 bags corn, corn and potatoes, 50 head cattle, 28 hogs and a small passenger list. The weather is rough on windward Hawaii with a nor'west swell. She will resume her old Maui route next Tuesday afternoon.

The 3-masted schooner Hunda Isle, which arrived in Sydney recently from Mercury Bay with a freight of kauri, had a narrow escape from being sunk by a whale on August 24. Two whales were sighted making a cruise across the bows of the schooner, but when quite close they altered their course, and made right for the vessel. One of the whales dived under the schooner, but the other held right on and crashed into her shaft the mainmast, a little below the water-line. The vessel trembled as if she had been struck by a ram and shook in every timber. The whale rebounded from the shock, smothering the water round with blood, and eventually sank out of sight. Several planks were started, and the vessel leaked so badly that the deck cargo was jettisoned in order to bring the source of the leak above the water-line. The injured planks were then covered with pillows enclosed in greengrille, and kept in position by wire ropes passed round the bottom. This had the desired effect, and a couple of hours pumping each day enabled the leak to be kept under.
